CASE STUDY

Supporting Kingsley Healthcare with their move to Nourish

Kingsley first opened their doors in 1999, with a care home in Lowestoft Suffolk. Their ethos, 'a family business caring for residents and staff like members of their own family,' has guided their incredible growth over the past 25 years.

"We are already seeing the positives. We're capturing so much more information now in Nourish, and the quality of the information is a lot better."

One of the biggest changes they faced was the need for a robust and customisable digital system. One that could adapt to the range of different care services Kingsley provides. Whilst Kingsley had utilised digital software previously, they knew they needed more depth and functionality to support their plans for the future. In Nourish, they found a system that supported their Vision, matched their commitment to community and elevated their digital infrastructure.

"As it is with many of our services customisability was crucial. We have a wide range of different people using our services, including those with complex needs. Any care plan system we use needs to be flexible within that. So that was one of the key criteria. We need a system that can be set up for those unique needs."
